

Another Try to Cut Foreign Aid Bill Fails

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Senate defeated today an attempt to cut $125 million from the $4,422,800,000 foreign aid money bill. A vote on passage of the bill was expected later in the day.

A vote of 40 to 38 rejected an amendment by Sen. Karl E. Mundt, R-S.D., to reduce to one billion a committee-recommended appropriation of $1,125,000,000 for low-interest, long-term economic development loans.

Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey, D-Minn., serving as floor manager for the $4,422,800,000 measure, told newsmen he expected the bill to clear the Senate and be sent to conference with the House by mid-afternoon.

Humphrey expressed confidence that the embattled measure had cleared its major hurdles.

The Democratic majority had the support of a number of Republicans during the 12-hour session Monday in which the Senate voted on eight amendments. As many as a dozen GOP senators supported President Kennedy on the key tests, providing the margin of victory.

The effect of the votes was to keep in the bill the $792,400,000 restoration made by the Senate Appropriations Committee in House cuts.

The Senate first rejected by a 47-28 vote a $785-million cut proposed by Sen. William Proxmire, D-Wis.

Then it defeated 41-35 a proposal by Sen. Allen J. Ellender, D-La., to cut $150 million from the military assistance, and rejected 40-34 an Ellender amendment to chop $200 million from development loan funds.

It adopted 39-3 a provision giving the President authority to permit aid to countries which sell arms to Cuba or permit their ships to be used to transport military supplies to the island. The House version flatly bans any assistance to such countries.

In the closest vote, the Senate agreed 39-37 to eliminate a House amendment denying any aid to Poland and Yugoslavia.

Tugboats Refuse to Dock Liner

NEW YORK (AP)—Three tugboats preparing to assist in docking the liner Queen Mary today abandoned the 81,000-ton luxury vessel when striking longshoremen appeared in a boat.

The liner will attempt later to dock unassisted by tugboats.

The action by the International Longshoremen's Association on the second day of work stoppage temporarily stranded 1,352 passengers arriving on the British liner.

Earlier, crews of three tugboats had ignored a longshoremen's picket boat and assisted the liner United States in docking from Southampton with 1,356 passengers.

Each of the liners has twice docked unassisted during past tugboatmen's strikes.

A presidential fact-finding board prepared to begin hearings in the labor dispute, the first step before the government can seek an injunction to end the strike which has tied up shipping in all major Atlantic and Gulf ports from Maine to Texas.

The strike has forced many ship passengers to carry their own luggage.

President Signs UN Bond Bill

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy signed the United Nations bond bill today and gave the first of the dozen pens he used to U.N. Ambassador Adlai E. Stevenson.

Leaders of the House and Senate, along with members of the Foreign Affairs committees of both houses, attended the ceremony in the President's office.

Kennedy expressed his gratification at enactment of the bill, which authorizes the United States to buy bonds issued by the United Nations to meet the costs of enforcing the peace in the Congo, Middle East and elsewhere.

Under the measure Kennedy may lend the United Nations up to $100 million on 2 per cent, 25-year bonds, but not more than the total purchases of all other U.N. members.

At last count, 17 other nations had bought $27.5 million worth of the proposed $200-million bond issue, and 2 other nations had pledged to purchase $45 million more.

The U.N. financial crisis stems from the refusal of Soviet bloc and other nations to pay their assessments.

The group agreed to invite city employees to participate in the United Fund drive which the Board endorsed.

A deed from Corn Belt Hatcheries on land purchased from Mrs. Bessie Dodd was accepted by the City.

The group passed a resolution urging voters to cast ballots in favor of Amendment 50 but a request for $187.98 to help get the measure passed died for lack of a second.

Last June, Laughton underwent surgery in New York's Memorial Hospital for Cancer and Allied Diseases, reportedly to correct a collarbone fracture suffered in a bathtub fall in January.

Pope to Make 400 Mile Trip

VATICAN CITY (AP)—Vatican sources said Pope John XXIII will travel to Assisi and the sanctuary at Loreto on Thursday. The 400-mile round trip will be the longest made by any pontiff in almost a century.

The Pope will make the trip to Assisi by train to pray for the success of the Roman Catholic ecumenical council, opening Oct. 11.

Assisi is the home city of St. Francis. Loreto, near Ancona on the Adriatic coast, is one of Italy's most important shrines dedicated to the Virgin Mary.

Tax Revision Bill Before the House

WASHINGTON (AP) — Final House action comes today on President Kennedy's tax revision bill which includes a tax incentive provision designed to spur business investment.

The measure is far different from the one Kennedy asked for in April 1961, but the administration still hails the bill as a significant advance in tax legislation.

Its central provision calls for a 7 per cent tax credit for investment in new machinery and equipment. Firms willing to spend money to modernize their plants are expected to get a billion-dollar tax cut in 1963 through the provision.

To offset such a revenue loss, Kennedy had asked for a number of changes designed to plug loopholes in existing law and bring in enough revenue to provide a net increase in the bill of $600 million a year.

But first the House, and then the Senate, whittled away at the suggested changes until the bill would now produce a net loss of about $545 million a year.

The biggest defeat Kennedy suffered on the bill came when the Senate knocked out a provision requiring 20 per cent withholding on dividend and interest payments, similar to tax withholding on salaries. The House had included the provision in its bill but the Senate prevailed in the final compromise version.

Treasury Department officials have estimated that between $4 billion and $5 billion in dividend and interest payments each year are now unreported, depriving the government of about a billion dollars in taxes.

In place of the withholding provision the bill includes a requirement that payments of more than $10 a year in either interest or dividends must be reported by the paying firm to the Internal Revenue Service, and also to the individual receiving the payments.

Senate sponsors of this provision predict it will bring in $275 million a year in new tax revenue. The Senate has not acted on the compromise measure.

Demo Leaders Behind Action in Mississippi

WASHINGTON (AP) — Democratic congressional leaders voiced solid support today for President Kennedy's action in sending troops to quell integration violence in Oxford, Miss.

Senate Republican leader Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois also backed the President's action to uphold court orders for the enrollment of James H. Meredith, a Negro, in the all-white University of Mississippi.

Dirksen said in an interview he is withholding any decision on possible Republican participation in a scheduled Senate Judiciary Committee investigation of the bloody rioting in Oxford until he can confer with Chairman James O. Eastland, D-Miss.

Eastland ordered an investigation into all events since U.S. marshals and Army troops moved in. Eastland read to the Senate on Monday a report from university officials contending that rioting started after the marshals fired tear gas shells into a crowd of students and others.

Dirksen, a member of the Judiciary Committee, said he wants to know more about the scope of Eastland's proposed investigation before he decides whether Republicans ought to participate in it.

Sunday night's bloody rioting at the University of Mississippi was a major topic at Kennedy's weekly breakfast meeting with the congressional leaders, Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield of Montana indicated.

"It is an embarrassment to all concerned, but this country is ruled by law and not by men," Mansfield said of the rioting. "We support the President."

"Speaking for Congress, I think Congress has acted with great restraint in this situation," Mansfield did not say whether there had been any discussion with the President of the proposed Senate investigation of the Oxford violence.

Monday night Chairman James O. Eastland, D-Miss., ordered an inquiry by the Judiciary Committee of all events "since U.S. marshals and Army troops moved in."

It was evident, however, that Eastland, in acting in response to the emotionally charged atmosphere of his home state, was not at all certain of the acceptance he might gain from Republican committee members for the move.

Barnett Fails to Appear in Federal Court

By CARL LEUBSDORF

NEW ORLEANS (AP)—Mississippi's Gov. Ross Barnett fought against imprisonment for contempt today in a federal appeals court here. His lawyers argued that he had purged himself of contempt with the enrollment in the University of Mississippi of Negro James H. Meredith.

Neither Barnett nor Lt. Gov. Paul B. Johnson Jr., also cited for contempt, appeared before the 5th Circuit Court of Appeals. Barnett remained in Jackson, Miss., where city and state police encircled his mansion to keep order in the event of his arrest by the federal government.

One source said Barnett was prepared to go to jail, should the New Orleans court turn down his plea that he be purged of contempt despite his vain attempts to prevent Meredith's enrollment in the university.

Meanwhile, at the Oxford, Miss., campus of the university, Meredith quietly made the rounds of his classes for a second day as steel-helmeted federal troops brought uneasy quiet to the campus.

One source said in the event Barnett were served he would accept the summons and, in effect, fulfill his promise to the voters to go to jail in trying to prevent integration.

Hundreds of Jackson residents and other persons began milling around the historic mansion in downtown Jackson.

A woman in the milling crowd told a newsmen she had walked off her job as a drug store cashier.

"I may get shot but I'm going to see this," she said.

The governor was convicted last Friday of civil contempt and faced imprisonment and a $10,000 fine unless he purged himself by the deadline of 11 a.m. (CST) today.

State police and city police said today they were in readiness only to protect the peace.

Refugees Eager to Fight Castro

NEW YORK (AP)—Two hundred Cuban refugees expressing eagerness to fight the Fidel Castro regime in their homeland turned up at the city's Selective Service System headquarters today.

About three-quarters of them were turned away as ineligible for recruitment and the rest were disappointed to learn that, even if accepted, they would not be placed in special anti-Castro units.

The turnout marked the first day of recruiting in New York City under a recently amended program for the induction of Cubans into the United States armed forces. English proficiency is no longer required under the modifications.

Mansion Is Guarded at Jackson

JACKSON, Miss. (AP) — City and state police encircled the governor's mansion here today in a move to keep law and order in the event of arrival of federal marshals attempting to arrest Gov. Ross Barnett.

Police said there was no indication at 10 a.m. that marshals would make the move but preparations were underway nevertheless.

One source said in the event Barnett were served he would accept the summons and, in effect, fulfill his promise to the voters to go to jail in trying to prevent integration.

Court Refuses Support Request

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Actress Katy Jurado limped into court, then limped out without getting the $1,145 temporary monthly support she sought from her estranged husband, actor Ernest Borgnine.

A Superior Court judge turned down Miss Jurado's plea Monday on grounds that a property settlement made in January 1961 is still in force.

Miss Jurado, 34, appeared in court with her leg bandaged. She said she injured her leg in a fall and that last March Borgnine aggravated the injury when he kicked her.

Dozens Jailed for Carrying 'Weapons'

OXFORD, Miss. (AP)—Federal troops arrested more than two dozen persons carrying weapons during the night as they tightened an uneasy security around the University of Mississippi.

The armed troops, wary of the slightest buildup in the bitter segregation dispute, arrested anyone found with any type of weapon.

James H. Meredith, the 29-year-old Negro who is the hub of the state vs. federal government hassle, spent his first night as an Ole Miss student in a residence hall flooded with spotlight.

One man and his son, 14, arrested during the early hours, had a collection that included one rifle and two shotguns, one saber, two hunting knives and ammunition.

The swelling force of federal troops, bayonets fixed and rifles ready, arrested the first woman since the flareup began. She was held overnight when soldiers found a shotgun in her car.

In New Orleans, La., Mississippi Gov. Ross Barnett had a date in federal court on a contempt citation, harvested from his vain effort to thwart Meredith's entrance as the 114-year-old university's first knowingly admitted Negro student.

"I call on the President to put a stop to further violence by immediate removal of Meredith and the withdrawal of federal troops and marshals from Mississippi," the 64 year old governor said in a speech telecast across the nation Monday night.

Barnett blamed federal intervention for the weekend segregation riots and the deaths of a French newsmen and an Oxford repairman.

Washington's rebuttal was a mounting building of nearly 12,000 soldiers including the crack 101st Airborne Division, the paratrooper outfit that quelled the 1957 school integration violence at Little Rock Ark.

Troops streamed into Oxford, outnumbering the college hamlet's citizenry 2-1 in the strongest display of federal might since the end of the Civil War nearly a century ago.

The troops arrested more than 200 persons since Sunday night about one third of them students. Most of them went free, but more than a dozen stayed in custody to face various charges, including former Maj. Gen. Edwin A. Walker.

The military's mission was to protect the slightly built, 29-year-old Meredith's court-ordered status as a student at the university, and to forestall further rioting on campus in Oxford.

President Kennedy's actions in the school crisis would not acquiesce to a performance that seemed aimed at sustaining Gov. Ross Barnett's charges that the federal government had invaded Mississippi to overturn state sovereignty.

Eastland's order for the inquiry could be challenged by other committee members. If it were, he probably would need the support of Republican members to give the investigation any air of non-partisanship.

As a whole, the Republicans were cautious about Eastland's investigation.

They awaited a cue from Senate Republican Leader Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois, a committee member, who was released Monday from Bethesda, Md. Naval Hospital where he had been undergoing tests.

Dirksen, seeking reelection in Illinois, has been a strong advocate of civil rights. The guessing was that he would not go along with the kind of inquiry Eastland seems to have in mind.

The Republicans approached the situation cautiously. Many of them felt—as did many Democrats—that Kennedy's course in Mississippi would hurt his party in the South but help it in populous Northern and Western states where it counts most.

Barnett Fails

Ross Barnett to purge himself of federal contempt of court charges heard today, after the still-defiant governor hurled a new verbal blast at President Kennedy.

In a television speech, Barnett put blame for violence that has accompanied desegregation of the University of Mississippi "directly with the President of the United States."

The 5th U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals here gave Barnett until 11 a.m. today to show that he intends to comply with its orders that made James H. Meredith the first known member of his race to attend the 114-year-old state university.

Barnett, convicted last Friday of civil contempt, faced imprisonment and a $10,000 daily fine, unless he purged himself by the deadline.

U.S. Gov. Paul Johnson, convicted of similar contempt the following day, faced a $5,000 daily fine if he did not act to purge himself by the same deadline.

In his speech, carried nationally over the Columbia Broadcasting System Monday night, Barnett blamed "reckless, trigger-happy federal marshals" for being "directly responsible for the violence at Ole Miss."

Eight of the appeals court's nine members, sitting en banc, convicted Barnett. The governor did not appear. Attorneys for the state were refused permission to participate in the case.

The eight judges were unanimous in finding Barnett guilty, although three dissented from the part of the sentence that levied the fine.

The court defined compliance as (1) ceasing all resistance to desegregation orders by the federal courts and (2) maintaining law and order and cooperating with officers and agents of the courts.

The appellate court cited two instances where Barnett personally turned back Meredith. It said his conduct was designed for "deliberate and announced purpose of preventing compliance with the orders of this and other federal courts."

Meredith's admission had been directed by both the appeals court and a U.S. district court for Southern Mississippi.

Johnson, who turned Meredith away from the campus last Wednesday, also failed to show up at his contempt hearing, conducted by three judges.

America Needs the World Series

By SAM DAWSON
AP Business News Analyst

NEW YORK (AP)—If ever American really needed a World Series, the fracas opening Thursday is the one.

They shouldn't and can't close their minds to a host of worries pressing in just now. But for a few days at least they can find welcome hours of relief in submerging themselves in the battle royal between the Atlantic and Pacific coasts for the baseball championship.

The change in tensions should be healthy. For just now the other tensions all around seem to be rising—maybe just a passing illusion, but millions of harried Americans must feel that way.

If it isn't Mississippi, it's Berlin. If it isn't Cuba, it's the Congo.

The stock market has many biting their nails—both those who actually are losing money and those who can't figure out what's happening—or, more important, why it's happening and what the future holds.

The closing days of any congressional session aren't soothing to the nerves. This year the many issues being batted back and forth or deliberately being shoved aside till after the election seem more touchy than usual. Congress seems to be raising about as many questions as it is settling.

Nor can you lull yourself to sleep these nights by counting the economic statistics. Too many point up and too many point down, and most just seem to be not pointing at all.

So businessmen can watch the World Series for a while and stop worrying about profits. Are earnings being squeezed dangerously? Are they orphans in a hostile government climate? Can they be pepped up by more efficiency? Let's talk about that next week.

Bankers and the nation's money managers can take a brief respite from fretting over the trend of interest rates—especially in the uncertain economic future. Maybe even the debate over whether our dikes against the loss of more treasury gold are high enough can be adjourned temporarily.

What to do about the European Common Market, supposing we can do anything, can wait for a few days surely. Then we can start worrying again. Will the new freer trade bill work out into actual tariff bargains with Western Europe that will increase American export opportunities? Or will the competition from Europe grow more critical as the Common Market grows even stronger? Should we fight it, or join it, or seek a mutually profitable compromise? And still farther out are all the imponderables about the space race. Worrying about the Soviet Union heating us to the moon or about its orbiting nuclear payloads over our heads can't be really shelved. But for a few days baseball will do its best to soothe our nerves.

Say Alabama Would Be 2nd Mississippi

HOLLYWOOD, Fla. (AP)—Gov. John Patterson took a look at the tide of integration closing in on Alabama and forecast that another Mississippi would result if schools in his state are forced to admit Negroes.

With integration of the University of Mississippi, Alabama and South Carolina now are the only Southern states continuing to operate public schools and state universities on a segregated basis. Federal court suits to force admission of Negroes are pending in both states.

"If integration is forced in Alabama, there would be chaos, violence and destruction of the public school system," Patterson told a news conference Monday.

Patterson declared that Alabama, because of the deep feeling of its people, was determined to keep schools operating on a segregated basis despite the 1954 U.S. Supreme Court desegregation decree.

"I do not see any integration in Alabama in the foreseeable future," he said.

A suit to force admission of Negroes to Birmingham public schools is pending in federal district court in Alabama. Court-ordered enrollment of a Negro girl, Autherine Lucy, at the University of Alabama several years back resulted in violence. She later was expelled for making charges against university officials.

Because of the continuing crisis in Mississippi, Patterson said the Alabama Highway Patrol had been placed on a five-minute alert. The action was taken so the patrol would be prepared for any eventuality, he said.

The program of the governors' conference was revamped so governors can be on hand at Cape Canaveral Wednesday when astronaut Walter M. Schirra is scheduled to blast off on a six-orbit space flight. The Cape Canaveral trip originally had been scheduled for today.

COMPENSATION

Our neighbors' children give all sorts Of vivid, play-by-play reports On what they do in school all day, And where they go, and what they say. But though we plead and prod—and wait, Our children don't communicate. At times we envy very much The parents who are kept in touch, But, by and large, it's rather sweet To know our progeny's discreet; What's going on at home, as well.

No Deal on Cuba, Rusk Advises

WASHINGTON (AP)—Secretary of State Dean Rusk says there's no possibility of a deal to end Soviet intervention in Cuba for Western concessions on Berlin or American bases abroad.

"You cannot support freedom in one place by surrendering freedom in another," Rusk said in reply to a question.

Rusk's comments were made in a prerecorded television interview.

Ruling on State Legislator

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—Pulaski Chancellor Murray O. Reed held Monday that the state constitution specifically permits a school board member to serve in the General Assembly.

Reed cited Section 7, Article 5 of the constitution in dismissing a suit filed against Pulaski Rep. J. H. Cottrell Jr., by Sam Fowler of North Little Rock.

Fowler contended that Cottrell could not be a lawmaker and at the same time serve on the Little Rock School Board.

Lost $10,400 in Transaction

JONESBORO, Ark. (AP)—Thomas L. Jackson, a Memphis refrigeration company owner, testified in the Arnold Edens fraud trial today that he lost $10,400 in an involved transaction with Edens.

Jackson testified as the trial entered its second day in U.S. District Court with the government presenting witnesses to tell of dealings with the Paragould financier.

Jackson said Edens told him that an estate in tax troubles had $41,000 worth of investors stock that could be bought for $35,400. Jackson said he put up the money with the understanding that he would get it back and $6,000 in securities.

The Memphis man said months elapsed and he demanded his money several times and got checks which proved worthless. He said Edens finally gave him a cashier's check for $15,000 and Edens' attorney gave him a check for $10,000. He said he also was given stock in a warehouse as security.

Jackson said he got back $25,000 and lost $10,400.

Allies Firm About Stand on Berlin

WASHINGTON (AP)—American and British determination to stand firm on Berlin has been restated by President Kennedy and British Foreign Secretary Lord Home.

After the two met Sunday at the White House, a communique said "there was complete agreement on the assessment of the dangers of the Berlin situation and on the continued need for the Western powers to stand firm on their vital interests."

Five Central American countries will cooperate in a new center for research on education in Central America at the University of San Carlos, Guatemala. Michigan State University will provide staff members.

ARKANSAS BLUE CROSS

expands the effectiveness of their program

FOR SENIOR CITIZENS

For Arkansans who are 65 or older.

NATIONWIDE, more than 5 million citizens 65 or over already have Blue Cross protection.

Based on this experience and a comprehensive study of senior citizens' requirements, Arkansas Blue Cross-Blue Shield is now offering an amplified program of protection for this age group.

This is in keeping with the Blue Cross aim to help ALL members of the community, not just those considered to be "good risks".

THERE ARE NO UPPER AGE LIMITS. No physical examinations are required.

The benefits have been established by your ARKANSAS Blue Cross-Blue Shield, working in cooperation with the Arkansas Hospital Association, NURSING HOME BENEFITS ARE INCLUDED IN THIS NEW PLAN.

Rates, too, have been determined based on the cost of care in Arkansas hospitals, so that they may reflect to the advantage of each member, the cost of care in local hospitals.

Blue Cross realizes that there will be some senior citizens who cannot afford to purchase this protection. In such cases, we have made it possible for relatives or others to arrange the protection for them.

Your Arkansas Blue Cross Plan, because of its traditional concern with the costs of care for its members, and our direct working relationship with hospitals, has always offered outstanding value. In 1961, for instance, Blue Cross Plans as a whole returned in benefits an average of 93¢ of every dollar paid in for dues. That's far more than the average return for other forms of health protection.

As a result, Blue Cross is the organization most preferred by the American people to help assure the payment of hospital bills. Today, $99 million in all are enrolled in Blue Cross Plans.

THIS FALL, ARKANSAS BLUE SHIELD is offering senior citizens an unusual opportunity to arrange greater security for themselves and for their savings. During a special enrollment period (which closes November 15) Arkansas Blue Shield is making available to people in this age group the modern protection they need to help meet surgical-medical expenses today.

NO AGE LIMITS—TAILORED BENEFITS. This program is open to Arkansas people 65 or older. The coverage provides substantial protection against the cost of health care most often needed by persons over 65. Benefits have been established in co-operation with the Arkansas Medical Society, which sponsors and endorses the plan.

RATES HAVE BEEN RELATED TO LOCAL COSTS. To give each member the full advantage of local differences in costs, rates have been based on the average of local costs. The over-all purpose of this approach is to assure the greatest health care value at the most realistic cost.

JOIN THE MILLIONS ALREADY ENROLLED. Today, more than 3 million senior citizens nationwide already have Blue Shield protection. If you are 65 or over, this is your opportunity to join with them and share in the increased security Blue Shield protection can provide.

Blue Shield is the best known, most highly respected name in the field of health care protection. It has enrolled more than 50 million persons, and last year alone it paid over $800,000,000 for the care of its members. People have confidence in Blue Shield. Their satisfaction with it is demonstrated by the millions who have joined and who remain members year after year.

Rusk, Latin Nations Talk About Cuba

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER

WASHINGTON (AP)—Secretary of State Dean Rusk is expected to urge Latin American foreign ministers today to back tough new economic and political measures aimed at isolating and weakening Cuba.

Rusk obviously would also like a general endorsement of U.S. warnings to Fidel Castro's Soviet-backed regime that it faces U.S. military action if it threatens or uses force against any U.S. or inter-American interests.

Washington officials were not sure how far other American governments would want to go on this issue.

The 20-nation Inter-American foreign ministers conference with Rusk as chairman will continue for two days behind closed doors.

President Kennedy arranged a luncheon for the delegation chiefs and is expected to set forth his own views on the Cuban situation.

At his news conference two weeks ago, Kennedy warned that the United States would act alone if necessary in event of a serious Cuban Communist military threat to the United States or any American nation.

Kennedy then made clear that under present circumstances the situation in Cuba does not require military action.

In the U.S. view, however, it does require other steps designed both to contain Communist power in Cuba and to put new pressures on Castro with the ultimate purpose of bringing about his downfall.

Rusk and Assistant Secretary of State Edwin M. Martin have held talks with Latin American officials during the past week which have encouraged them to believe a solid front of opposition to Castro and the buildup of Soviet arms in Cuba is developing.

The United States would like to see virtually all remaining trade—with the exception of some food and medical supplies—between Latin American countries and Cuba cut off.

Missile Experts Die in Crash

SANTA CLARA, Calif. (AP)—Six missile experts en route to Vandenberg Air Force Base were killed Monday night when a transport plane plunged into the ground near Santa Maria airport, authorities reported.

The crash also killed the plane's pilot.

The twin-engine craft was attempting a landing at the field here after a flight from Hawthorne airport near Los Angeles.

It circled the field, one engine sputtering, then clipped the tops of a 75-foot high grove of Eucalyptus trees and smashed nose-first into the ground.

Santa Barbara County Sheriff James Webster said that the seven men aboard were all killed instantly.

He said the bodies were so badly broken in the crash that it was difficult, at first, to determine the number of dead aboard.

Earlier reports indicated 11 persons were killed.

The men were identified as scientists, engineers and technicians employed by the Martin Co. builder of the Titan missile.

Loan Sought

Sense of Foreboding Over Oxford

By RELMAN MORIN

OXFORD, Miss. (AP)—After dark, a sense of foreboding settles over the little college town.

It creeps through the streets, wet from a half-hearted drizzle and converges on the campus of the University of Mississippi. You can almost touch it in the silence.

It is a mixture of hate and fear and deep anguish, all compounded by the frightening question, "What next?"

There is nothing you can put your finger on. A knot of hard-eyed men gather on a street corner, talking in low tones. They grow silent when you approach them, or when an Army jeep cruises past. The discovery of an arsenal of weapons in the hands of people the Oxonians say are "outsiders." The note of tension in the voice of the proprietor of a cafe when she refuses to open the door to a group of young men peering and rapping on the glass. "I don't know them," she says. "But I know they are like the ones who caused all the trouble Sunday night."

Two persons died Sunday night, and more than 75 were injured when rioting raged across the gracious, tree-shaded campus of the university.

A pile of telegrams covers a desk in one of the main administration buildings of the university. Each one has much the same anxious message. "Worried about you. Suggest you come home until troubles over." They are addressed to students, and all arrived after the explosion on the campus Sunday night.

The city, and especially the campus, is one large Army camp. Troops guard all the entrances, and they have sealed off the court house square. At night, the soldiers, their helmets and fixed bayonets are etched in black against the white walls of the court house.

Frank Lovejoy, Actor, Dies

NEW YORK (AP)—Actor Frank Lovejoy, 50, was found dead in bed today at his quarters in the Hotel Warwick.

The discovery was made by his wife, Joan.

A physician said Lovejoy apparently died of a coronary thrombosis.

Lovejoy recently had appeared in a production of the play, "The Best Man," at Paramus, N.J.

His career embraced both Broadway and motion pictures. In addition, he had been a radio announcer.

He made his Broadway debut in "Judgment Day," and his first film appearance was in "Home of the Brave."

Mrs. Lovejoy said her husband had watched the Dodgers-Giants baseball game on television Monday night and then went to bed, saying he was tired.

His wife said she tried to arouse him at 6:15 a.m. today but was unable to do so and summoned the physician. The doctor estimated Lovejoy had been dead 8 to 10 hours.

Lovejoy was a native of New York.

Must Publish County Warrants

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—The Arkansas Supreme Court ruled Monday that a 1914 law requiring publication of a list of county warrants is mandatory.

The opinion upheld St. Francis Chancery Court in a suit filed against St. Francis County Judge M. D. Clark and County Clerk Dorothy Bernard by a group of taxpayers.

The two county officials argued that the warrants could not be published because the quorum court made no appropriation to pay printing costs.

The Supreme Court did not answer the question of how publication should be paid for since it held the problem of payment was not in issue.

Havana radio said the men were accused of slaying three farmers.

DOROTHY DIX

Should She Give Up This Boy Friend?

By HELEN WORDEN ERSKINE

Dear Helen: A year after my husband died of cancer I met a nice fellow eight years younger than I, a divorced man whose teenage children live with him. My own children were all married. At first I tried not to take him seriously fearing it would hurt me if we broke up.

The first year or two my friend was true blue. Then he started going out with other women. Later he'd be repentant, cry and promise not to repeat this. But he wouldn't. No longer believing him, I went out with others. This brought him to his senses and as far as I know he hasn't gone out with anyone else since. He keeps me in clothes and buys food and pays half the rent. I'm under a doctor's care and not strong enough to hold down a full-time job.

But we still argue. I love to go fishing; he got me a permit but doesn't want me to use it. If or when I ever remarry, I want it to be a marriage that will stick. Do you think after eight years of waiting I should call it a day and get back into circulation? What's wrong with things as they are?

Baffled.

Dear Baffled: Snap out of your dream world and put a quick stop to your present relationship if what you really want is a marriage that sticks. No man who is worth his salt will want to love, honor, and cherish a woman who has gone on year in year out permitting another man to pay her rent and groceries without benefit of wedding ring.

Your friend is nothing but a dog in the manger. Evidently he has shown no desire to legalize your association even though he is presumably available. He mended his own ways only after another man showed interest in you, but he still seems to be moving in and out of your life at will.

So long as he has things this easy with you, why would he gallantly step aside for a permanent replacement? And if in his own good time he gives you the gate — as often happens — by then your reputation will be in tatters. You alone are responsible for this mess. People take you at your own valuation and the value you put on yourself was not very high. Cast this man. Rebuild your self-respect. Scrimp along on your own money or get some work to make your income stretch. Even thought you're under a doctor's care, if you're healthy enough to go fishing you're healthy enough for at least a part-time job.

If your boy friend cries to be taken back, never forget that a woman who settles for half a loaf is likely to end up with none.

Dear Helen: I have five married sisters. I am 18 and the oldest at home. There are three younger children, including a 15-year-old sister who runs around all the time. Yet my mother makes me clean the house, do the cooking, washing and ironing, and keep the yard mowed and watered. She didn't even let me take a job during the school vacation. I had to stay home and watch over the others.

Whenever a young man I like very much asks for a date, she always manages to find a baby-sitting chore for me either at home or with one of her friends. I love my mother, but she's doing a fine job of alienating me. Must I be a slave the rest of my life? — Depressed.

Dear Depressed: At 18 you have as much right to begin to plan a life of your own as your five older sisters did. Your mother should see the justice of this. A logical time to try your wings will come when you finish school. If you hunt up a good job after graduation, she'll lack a valid reason for objecting. And as you show the increasing maturity that comes with holding down a job, she'll have no sound excuse to oppose your courtship by this or another young man.

Send your problem to Helen

4 Charges Against Gen. Walker

OXFORD, Miss. (AP)—Former Maj. Edwin A. Walker's crusade in behalf of Mississippi segregationists has ended with the war hero's arrest on charges of leading an insurrection against the United States.

The federal action Monday afternoon ended two stormy days in Oxford for the one-time soldier, center of one controversy after another before and after his 1961 resignation from the Army.

Walker, commander of federal troops in the Little Rock, Ark., desegregation crisis, this time was on the other side.

The highest-ranking Justice Department officer in Oxford, Deputy Atty. Gen. Nicholas Katzenbach, ordered Walker's arrest, after the 53-year-old Terman led one student charge against federal marshals on the University of Mississippi campus, and later appeared in the midst of rioting in downtown Oxford.

Shortly after he waived a preliminary hearing, and failed to make $100,000 bond set for the four charges against him, Walker was flown to a federal prison in Springfield, Mo., which specializes in psychiatric care.

After talking to Walker nearly an hour Monday night, Dr. Russell Settle, the center's warden, said the former general was certain his friends would raise his bond shortly.

One of his supporters, identified as Ashland Burchwell, a 22-year-old Texan, was picked up in Dallas, along with a large supply of arms and ammunition police said he was taking to Walker in Mississippi. Burchwell said he had worked for Walker both in the Army and in Texas.

But the "tens of thousands" Walker promised to lead to the support of Mississippi Gov. Ross Barnett, fighting to prevent Negro James H. Meredith's enrollment at the University of Mississippi, never materialized.

The four charges filed against Walker were:

1. Assaulting, resisting, or impeding U.S. marshals.
2. Conspiring to prevent discharge of duties.
3. Inciting, assisting and engaging in insurrection against the authority of the United States.
4. Conspiring to oppose by force the execution of any law of the United States.

Taken before U.S. Commissioner Omar Craig, Walker waived his hearing after conferring by telephone with an unidentified attorney.

Students Hurt in Bus Wreck

NASHVILLE, Ark. (AP)—Ten Texarkana College students were injured near Nashville today when a school bus struck a bridge and overturned.

Sheriff Jack Jennings said the driver of the truck was most seriously injured. He was Tommy Cabaniss, 68, who received severe cuts and bruises and possible internal injuries.

Martha Jewell, 18, received a broken leg and David Wilson and Peggy Ann Icenhower, 18, were cut about the face and arms.

All 10 students were taken to a Nashville hospital but only the four remained.

Jennings said Cabaniss was still in shock and the reason for the accident had not been determined. He theorized the bus hit a slick spot on the road just before reaching the bridge.

Polio Vaccine to Be Discussed

WASHINGTON (AP)—A special advisory committee on oral polio vaccine met today to review the current situation. Dr. Albert B. Sabin, developer of the vaccine, was on hand and expected to speak about in defense of the vaccine.

Public Health Service spokesmen said they expected the closed meeting to run through most of the day.

U.S. Surgeon General Luther L. Terry said there was no pressing reason for the meeting but that the group will consider new data on polio cases.

Terry said there may not be an immediate announcement of any findings.

The committee last met Sept. 15 during a controversy over the safety of the vaccine. After an 11-hour meeting it recommended to the surgeon general that adults not be given Type III of the Sabin vaccine in mass immunization programs. But it said the programs, with all three types of the vaccine, should be continued for children.

Many Students Leave Ole Miss

OXFORD, Miss. (AP)—Observers estimated today at least one-third of the approximately 6,000 students at the University of Mississippi returned home after Sunday night's campus riots.

About 50 to 75 per cent of the coeds and 25 to 50 per cent of the male students were believed to have left soon after the riot erupted after the arrival of Negro James H. Meredith at the all-white school.

A university spokesman said all students who asked would be given permission to leave the campus for one week with no questions asked and with no cuts counted for classes missed. Students who had left without such permission would be considered governed by the same conditions.

Official figures for the fall semester have not been announced but the registration, based on past enrollment, was estimated at about 4,000 male students and 2,000 coeds.

Increase in State Tax Take

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—State Revenues for September totaled $12,152,190, a $872,581 increase over the same month in 1961. Revenue Commissioner Ted Donham reported Monday.

Sales tax collections increased from $4,553,214 to $5,085,919 to account for most of the overall increase.

Donham said revenues from most sources were up slightly but income tax take declined from $333,318 to $141,583.

Total general revenues increased from $7,190,553 to $7,572,791 and special revenues were up from $4,389,75 to $4,580,119.

Investigation Into Deaths at Ole Miss

OXFORD, Miss. (AP)—A Justice Department spokesman says an intensive investigation is under way to find the slayers of two men shot to death during rioting on the University of Mississippi campus Sunday night.

"We will probably get the fellow or fellows who pulled the trigger," Edwin O. Guthman, press secretary to Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy, said today.

Guthman said officers as yet do not know whether the slayings of a French newsmen, Paul Guihard, 30, and Walter Ray Gunter, 23, an Oxford jukebox repairman, were accidental or deliberate.

Asked if it appeared the men were killed by the same gunman—both died of .32 caliber bullet wounds—Guthman said ballistic tests have not yet been completed to determine if the bullets were fired from the same pistol.

Little more is known now, he said, than that the men were shot to death, and where their bodies were found.

Counties to Share

WASHINGTON (AP)—Rep. Catherine Norrell, D-Ark., announced Monday that Garland, Hot Springs and Saline counties would share in $8,490 in national forest receipts from timber sales to be disbursed Oct. 4. Garland will receive $45,746, Hot Springs $155 and Saline $22,580.

The deputy felt a tug at his hat and a tug at his scalp just over his right ear, but his own shot had found it's mark. The cowboy went sprawling back over his horse's rump. Old Eb's shot-boomed, but in the melee of rearing horses no one fell. The drygoods clerk fired twice. Ogle's horse fell dead and he scrambled on foot back toward the retreating riders.

The skinny cowboy rolled back and forth on the ground gripping his left shoulder with his right hand. He screamed, "I'm dying!" His nervous horse ran back with the others.

Underwood had his gun in his hand, but the deputy could see his uncertainty. The old man called, "Let me get my wounded man!"

"Throw down your guns!" Youngblood commanded. Underwood started forward. "We changed our mind, Deputy. Let us get our wounded. We ain't going to town."

He threw his gun down on the ground. The deputy had felt the tug at his hat and then a burning in his scalp behind his ear. Now he was surprised to feel the trickling of blood going down the back of his collar. He knew the wounded cowboy was not dying, because he was rolling around too much. "Go back to your horse and get that carbine out of the scabbard and throw it down, too, and tell your other men to throw down their guns."

"They finally all complied, except Ogle, who was still occupied with the loose horse, then came forward and picked up the skin cowboy and loaded him into a saddle. He was pale and shaky; his shoulder was covered with blood caked with dirt. Ogle's hand mounted behind the wounded man to hold him in the saddle.

Ole Underwood said, "You sure ain't heard the last of this, young man. We only fired once, and you all fired at least four times. Before the sun goes down tomorrow, you're going to wish you could get out of the fight with just a scalp wound."

"I'm proud we fired four times to your once," Youngblood told him. Youngblood fingered his head and found that he had a gash two inches long in his scalp. The clerk tore the tail off his white shirt and bound up the deputy's head to stop the bleeding. Smitty thought the three of them could handle their position if the deputy wanted to go back to town, but Youngblood shook his head.

He got his horse again and rode down the creek bed to a cattle crossing, where he turned out west, and rode back to the high ground he had been on an hour before. He had thought Underwood's group might for some reason be making a big circle to go into town; but they were riding toward the fence corner he had noted before, still walking their horses. They turned west up the fence. Somewhere within three miles of the corner must be a gate. Underwood was taking his bunch to the Rail-P.

Youngblood settled the clumsy bandage more firmly around his head and rode down the creek again. They turned back one more lone rider before they were relieved by Slim and three others in the middle of the afternoon.

The judge had pulled his chair over to the window of his office and was sitting watching main street. His door was often to take advantage of any breeze that might come along the hall. He looked up and saw the tall heavy figure of his brother in the doorway and wondered how long he had been there; it wasn't like Stephen to stand waiting silently. In spite of their differences, the judge felt strongly his need to understand the big man. "Come in, Steve," the judge said. "Take a seat. I've been thinking about asking you a couple of questions in regard to our conversation the other day."

"The big man came in and said, 'I don't remember our conversation and don't care to.' The judge pressed the matter. 'You said something about the pride you took in the battle of San Jacinto. I talked to someone who works for you and he said, 'Sure, everybody knows Mr. Pendegross fought at the battle of San Jacinto.'"

"Well, so what?" the big man said. "Why do you bring up an argument that's finished?"

"I just wondered if you fought at the Alamo too."

"What are you trying to find out?" the big man said, his face flushed. "What do you know about it? You were just a kid then."

"A kid? What were you, Steve. Where are you now? In some kind of a dream world? I was 12 and you were 13 when San Jacinto was fought. Don't you think I remember when Pa came home from the big battle and gave you a whipping because you didn't have the corn in?"

Mississippi Events Called a Tragedy

LITTLE ROCK (AP) - Sen. J. William Fulbright, D-Ark., in a news conference today termed events in Mississippi "very tragic and unfortunate."

Fulbright said he felt that the most "original and serious mistake" the U.S. Supreme Court had made was "usurping the legislature."

"I still feel that this (desegregation question) would have been worked out with less trouble and less violence if left to the legislature - that is, the Congress - to deal with," he added.

Fulbright who has a Republican opponent in his bid for reelection this year said that long before the 1954 decision of the U.S. Supreme Court, "officials of this state solved the question at the University of Arkansas without violence," by admitting a Negro.

"And Ole Miss is a state university which makes the situation different from that which occurred in Little Rock."

"Other states have reached solutions that are tolerable, not satisfactory but tolerable," he continued.

The news conference was held at the state Democratic Committee's booth at the Arkansas Live-stock Exposition.

Fulbright said he felt that President Kennedy had gone as far as he could in negotiations with Mississippi officials before using force.

The senator said that the U.S. high court had already established the separate but equal doctrine and that was the law of the land for 90 years.

He said he felt the court did not have the right to change that law.

Pat Mahaffy, Democratic national committeeman from Arkansas, said at the conference Fulbright had signed the southern manifesto, which challenged the court's school desegregation ruling on constitutional grounds.

The judge had pulled his chair over to the window of his office and was sitting watching main street. His door was often to take advantage of any breeze that might come along the hall. He looked up and saw the tall heavy

figure of his brother in the doorway and wondered how long he had been there; it wasn't like Stephen to stand waiting silently. ## Mosquito Campaign in Jefferson

PINE BLUFF, Ark. (AP)—Jefferson County Public Health officials have begun a mosquito control program as a result of discovery of two cases of encephalitis.

Kent Little, biologist with the county health department, said the control program was initiated in the Watson Chapel area near Pine Bluff, where an unidentified man and boy have contracted the disease.

He said an exact diagnosis of the type of encephalitis contracted by the two may not be determined for about 15 days, but "we have to proceed as if mosquitoes are the carriers of the disease."

Little, an authority on mosquito-carried diseases, said there is a chance that the man may have contracted the disease at a Lake Village fishing camp and that the state Health Department has been notified of the situation.

A state Health Department spokesman said today samples of mosquitoes are being taken in the Lake Village area to determine if they are carriers. Laboratory tests will require about 5 days, the spokesman said.

Little said the physician treating the man and boy did not think they had the type of encephalitis called sleeping sickness. "The disease, he said, is not transmittable from humans to humans but is carried by birds and transferred through mosquito bites to man."

The biologist said if the type the man and boy have is mosquito-borne, the area will be fortunate. "A cold snap expected today will kill more mosquitoes than we can," he said. "If the cases had appeared during the summer, he said, 'we would have been worried.'"

Little said all three types of the mosquito carried disease have been found within the borders of the state. There is little chance, he said, of a severe outbreak of the disease.

Bobcats Take Over Lead in District Play

The Hope Bobcats, for the past several seasons a "backseat rider," has now jumped over into the "drivers seat" in the Div. 4AA conference race with a 2-0 record and a victory over one of the two challengers. The Cats defeated Malvern, previously undefeated in league play, and now only Camden is undefeated in league play besides Hope.

This week's conference action sends Hope to Crossett and Camden to Malvern. In non-league action Arkadelphia plays at Fairview; De Queen plays at Magnolia and Smackover travels to Warren.

Results of last week's games: Conference: Hope 45, Malvern 13; Smackover 20, Magnolia 7. Non-conference: Camden 24, Arkadelphia 6; Haynesville, La. 13, Fairview 0. Crossett had an open date.

The Division race is far from over and upsets can be expected throughout the season, but two defeats is almost certain to eliminate a team from title contention. Malvern, Fairview and Magnolia each have one defeat. Smackover and Crossett each have two defeats.

David Porterfield of Hope took over the individual scoring leadership from Crossett's idle Allen Elbridge with three TDs and seven extra points and a total of 25 points. Elbridge follows with 24 and Couch of Magnolia is third with 20.

Porterfield and Jim Jordan of Camden share the leadership in extra points, each with 7 PATs.

Hope took over the team net yards rushing leadership with a total of 1,062 yards, followed by Crossett with 827, and Malvern 806. In defense against rushing the Camden Panthers have yielded only 433 yards, followed by Fairview with 469 and Crossett with 511.

Smackover leads in the team net yards passing with 275 yards, followed closely by Camden with 269. In defense against passing Magnolia has allowed 32 yards to opponents' passing followed by Crossett with 98, and Smackover 103.

Hope leads the scoring department with a total of 106 points. Camden has 88 and Crossett 52. Camden has yielded only 13 points and Crossett 14 points.

The Standings:

Team	W	L
Hope	2	0
Malvern	2	1
Fairview	1	1
Magnolia	1	1
Smackover	1	2
Crossett	0	2

Going There to Play Ball, Says Houston

HOUSTON (AP)—The University of Houston football team is ready to take on the University of Mississippi Saturday despite current disorder in Oxford, Miss.

"We're going over there to play football and nothing else," said one member of the squad. "Sure we want to play them. They're on the schedule aren't they?"

Houston Athletic Director Harry Fouke tried all day Monday to contact Mississippi Athletic Director Tad Smith by telephone to check on the status of the game, but could not reach him.

"It's their game and we've heard nothing from them," Fouke said. "Until we do, we are proceeding in our preparation to play the game as contracted."

Ole Miss Coach John Vaughn said in Oxford his team was working hard in practice sessions for the Houston game, and added: "There is nothing I have dis-

Ohio State Back on Top in Football

By ED CORRIGAN
Associated Press Sports Writer

After taking a back seat for just one week, Ohio State was back in the No. 1 spot in the weekly Associated Press football poll today.

The power-packed Buckeyes were voted the top team in the nation in the AP pre-season poll, but when Alabama, the defending champion, won its first game convincingly, the sports writers and sportscasters who do the voting had some second thoughts.

They sent the Crimson Tide, the defending national champions, to the top in the first of the regular-season polls.

But after Ohio State's crushing 41-7 victory over North Carolina in its opener last Saturday, the Buckeyes edged back into first place with 335 votes to 329 for Alabama, which crushed Tulane, 44-0.

The Crimson Tide actually compiled more first place votes than Ohio State—19 to 18—but the Buckeyes had more general support. The votes are awarded on a basis of 10 points for first place, nine for second and so on down the list.

No other team really came close to the two front runners. Texas held on to its No. 3 spot with 2 points and Penn State continued at No. 4 with 227 points. Louisiana State, rated one of Alabama's main rivals for the Southeastern Conference championship, tumbled out of the top ten along with Michigan State and Missouri.

The top ten, with first-place votes in parentheses:

1. Ohio State (18)
2. Alabama (19)
3. Texas (13)
4. Penn State
5. Georgia Tech
6. Southern California
7. Mississippi
8. Washington
9. Miami (Fla.)
10. Army

Porker End Released by Hospital

FAYETTEVILLE, Ark. (AP)—University of Arkansas officials announced Monday that Jim John, a junior end who suffered a nose injury early in pre-season football practice, has been released from a Little Rock hospital.

John will spend the rest of this week resting at his home in Stuttgart. He will return to the campus next Monday, but it was not known how soon he may be able to rejoin the Razorback squad.

Coach Frank Broyles spoke highly of John during the pre-season drills, labeling him a candidate for all-conference honors. A ruptured blood vessel in his nose sidelined him. He entered the Little Rock hospital for treatment last week.

A source close to John said he is determined to play football this year. The university would not speculate on this, except to say he definitely will not play against Texas Christian this Saturday.

John reportedly lost 20 pounds during his hospitalization. He did weigh 195.

Jerry Lineberger, senior center who suffered a knee injury in the Tulsa game, had an operation Monday. Doctors said the knee will be as good as new in seven or eight weeks but his football career is over.

Little World Series Tonight

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP)—The Little World Series will be decided tonight, in one game or two. The sixth game between Louisville and Atlanta was postponed because of rain Monday night after one inning. Then the committee in charge decided to end it tonight with a doubleheader if necessary.

Louisville leads three games to two in the best-of-seven series and can wrap it up in the first encounter.

Porks Prepare for Opener in Conference

FAYETTEVILLE, Ark. (AP)—The Arkansas Razorbacks get down to intensive preparation today for their Southwest Conference opener against Texas Christian in Fort Worth Saturday night.

The Porks worked out in sweat clothes Monday in what Coach Frank Broyles called a typical Monday drill. Most of the time was spent loosening up.

Broyles and his staff got a scouting report on TCU from freshman aide Barry Switzer, who saw TCU beat Kansas 6-3 and lose to Miami 21-20.

"One thing the coaches noted," Broyles said, "is that TCU halfbacks are probably the most underrated men on the Horned Frogs team. TCU, he said, will have the best running attack Arkansas has faced this season."

"The first two games we played (victories over Oklahoma State and Tulsa) were primarily passing games," Broyles said. "This week will be a running game." Broyles said TCU quarterback Sonny Gibbs is great and can throw, but "he doesn't throw as much as OSU and Tulsa did."

Broyles said a study of films of the Tulsa game revealed that Porker blocking and tackling was not as good as he hoped. He said tackle Jerry Mazzanti got the highest grades in blocking.

Broyles also issued a gloomy report after seeing films of the OSU game. Arkansas beat Oklahoma State 34-7 and swamped Tulsa 42-14.

Second Playoff Game Today, Giants Favored

By JOE REICHLER

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Not only the Dodgers' World Series hopes but Los Angeles manager Walter Alston's scalp may hang in the balance in today's second game of the National League pennant playoff between the Dodgers and the Giants of San Francisco.

There have been backhand mutterings by people close to the Dodgers that Alston's continued association with the club depends upon the team's finish. If the Dodgers win the pennant, Alston stays, is the word. If they lose, he goes.

If this is true, Alston may be packing Wednesday. The shocking 8-0 defeat in San Francisco in the playoff opener Monday threw the slump-ridden Dodgers into their worst predicament of the year in what must be regarded as the biggest foldup in modern history.

It is not only that the Dodgers have lost 11 of their last 14, five in a row. It is not only that they've skidded from four games in front to one game behind in nine days. But it is the ease with which enemy pitchers have been able to contain their best hitters. College tonight.

The Dodgers have not scored in the last 30 innings. They've managed only 10 hits off Ernie Broglio and Curt Simmons of the St. Louis Cardinals and Billy Pierce of the Giants in the last three games.

If the Dodgers aren't dead, they're no great aid for the living. They resemble a tired, beaten crew, hardly able to hang on until it's over. They were beaten in the very first inning Monday when Willie Mays stroked the first of his two home runs, a two-run smash off starter and loser Sandy Koufax.

That was all the advantage Pierce needed. He permitted only three hits, two by pinch hitters and did not allow a man past second base as he registered his 16th victory of the season. It was the Giants seventh victory in the last eight meetings with the Dodgers.

Alston still talks in terms of

Moore, Gray Dominate Statistics

DALLAS, Tex. (AP)—Billy Moore of Arkansas dominates individual statistics of Southwest Conference football like the celebrated blanket.

The peppery quarterback of the Razorbacks leads in rushing and total offense and is runner-up in passing. Even in the latter he is the most efficient with a fine .82 on completions and he has yet to have a pass intercepted.

Moore has gained 182 yards on 20 runs for the ball-carrying lead. He has 185 yards in passing and thus his 37 on 43 plays gives him the total offense lead.

Don Trull of Baylor leads the passers with 22 connections on 45 throws for 292 yards. Moore has 19 completions in 23 tries.

Moore rushed for 12 yards against Tulsa last week, highlighting his performance with a school record 90-yard touchdown run from scrimmage.

Bill Gray, the sophomore who fills in for Moore, is the most effective passer in the league. Five of his nine completions have been for touchdowns.

Gray has averaged 19.2 yards per completion, which is tops. Walter McReynolds of Rice, the sophomore who led his team to a tie with Louisiana State, is second with 13.8.

Farmer Is Killed

BLYTEVILLE, Ark. (AP)—Joe Stone, 28, a tenant farmer on the Lee Wilson plantation, was killed instantly Monday by a shotgun blast in the stomach. Sheriff William Berryman said Stone's wife, Wanda, 22, admitted firing the shot when Stone threatened her and the couple's three-month-old child. No charges were filed. The couple has five young children.

idea that Alston's job is on the line. Not so long ago, Buzzie Bavasi, the general manager, said: "Winning or losing will have no bearing on whether Alston stays or not."

"If it was a veteran club," said Alston, "I could see where kicking them in the behind and giving them hell might do some good. But with this club, I don't think you ought to scare the kids any worse than they are."
